Nordisk Bergteknik's guidelines for remuneration of senior executives and remuneration in 2022

A prerequisite for the successful implementation of the company's business strategy and the protection of its long-term interests, including its sustainability, is that the company can recruit and retain qualified staff. To this end, the company must offer competitive and market-based remuneration and benefits. According to the guidelines, total remuneration and benefits to senior executives is to correspond to market practice and be competitive in the senior executive's field of profession. The remuneration is offered as fixed salary, variable remuneration, other benefits such as car benefits, pension, and healthcare benefits.

The total remuneration is to be proportionate to the senior executive's position and authority and the responsibility this entails based on the financial scope and business impact, as well as market complexity. Total remuneration is decided on an individual basis at a level that, in combination with the various remuneration components, is considered to correspond to market practice and is competitive taking into account performance. Table I shows the total remuneration of senior executives in 2022 and the relationship between fixed and variable remuneration. Remuneration was not received from other Group companies and no remuneration was refunded.

The remuneration guidelines, which were adopted by the 2022 AGM, are described on pages 91-93 in the 2022 Annual and Sustainability Report.
